

Emma Siddall

PhD. Coordinator of the Horizon Europe Pillar 02 and EIC. Trinity College Dublin, Ireland.

Emma Siddall is the Horizon Europe Impact Specialist for the pre-award team at Trinity College Dublin. In this role she developed a series of workshops and resources to support the development of truly impactful projects, and regularly provides impact training. In May 2024, she co-authored the LERU in-depth quantitative and qualitative analysis of Horizon Europe reviewers, which provides an evidence base to improve proposal development. Emma is a founding core group member of the EARMA impact thematic group and is an impact ambassador for the Horizon Europe RMRoadmap project, an EU project coordinated by EARMA. Emma has also managed a number of European Commission projects and prior to becoming a research manager she worked as an academic in the area of sustainable urban design.
