

Maristela do Nascimento Rocha

KU Leuven Engage. Belgium.

Maristela do Nascimento Rocha is a Brazilian educational researcher and practitioner with expertise in epistemology, philosophy of education, decoloniality, and sociology of education. Currently based at KU Leuven (Belgium), she contributes to service-learning projects, including the institutionalization of service-learning and curriculum development, with a focus on integrating social justice principles into education. Her approach to both research and practice critically examines exclusionary mechanisms in education, particularly epistemic injustice and colonial mindsets, and their role in perpetuating social inequality.
